Author Bio

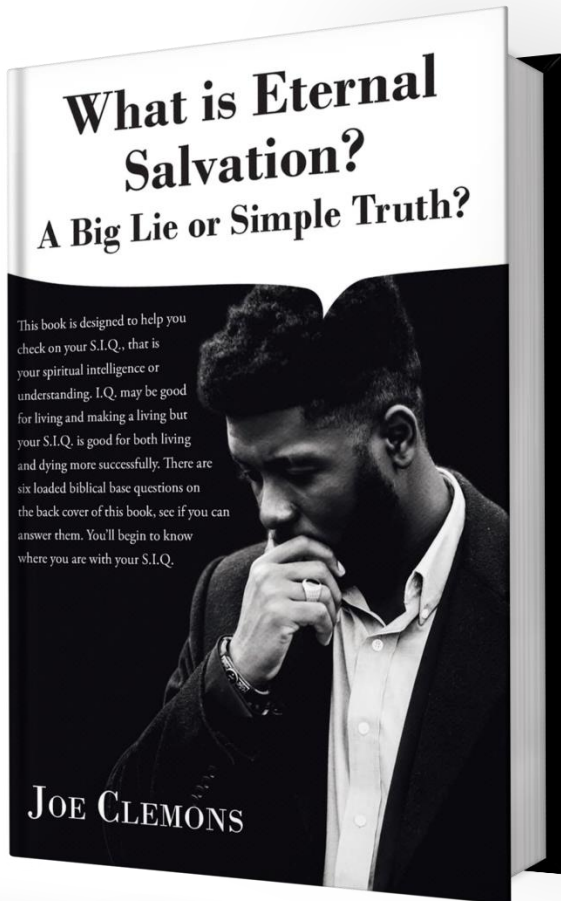

Joe Clemons became a Christian in 1983, and it was the best decision he has made for dying and for living. Joe has a caring, loving family—his wife of 38 years and two sons and a daughter.

Because he was a victim of dumb doctrine and bad theology, He wrote the books: An Open Letter to the Human Race, The Solutions to Life's Greatest Problems, and What is Eternal Salvation: A Big Lie or A Simple Truth?

What is Eternal Salvation? A Big Lie or Simple Truth? is a Christian theology book designed to help its readers check their spiritual intelligence quotient. Joe Clemons believes that a person's intelligence quotient may be suitable for making a living. It is one's S.I.Q. that makes a living and dying a good experience.

The book has six Bible-based questions that will make readers think and reflect as they try to answer them. It will help them know where they stand regarding their S.I.Q. The book also details what makes eternal salvation the most crucial concept people should know and understand.

Author Joe Clemons wrote his book because of the problems he experienced. He wants to help others have a clearer understanding of why eternal salvation is real. According to Joe, until one understands salvation and what makes it infinite, the Good News of the Gospel will never make good sense. Joe wants to make others smile because of the joy and love that comes from Jesus.
