Fast-Growing Children's Book Publisher Promotes STEM Education at the 2023 ALA Annual Conference

WASHINGTON, D.C., June 23, 2023: Science Naturally is excited to announce their participation in the 2023 ALA Annual Conference in Chicago, Illinois. Come meet this innovative, woman-owned children's book publisher at booth #2053 in the Small Press section!

As a STEM-focused press, Science Naturally prioritizes accessibility for those who have limited resources. In addition to creating a diverse collection of picture books and middle grade titles, including the bestselling Science Wide Open and One Minute Mysteries series, Science Naturally translates every book they publish into a bilingual English/Spanish, or Spanish-only edition. They've also worked with many literacy organizations to create books in Haitian-Creole, Bengali, braille, and more!

The Science Naturally staff is looking forward to discussing new and upcoming books all weekend with everyone who stops by the booth. They will also be welcoming Guy Brown, author of Look Up to See What the Weather Will Be and the upcoming How Cats Say I Love You, and Mary Wissinger, author of the Science Wide Open series and the upcoming Talking Science, as they sign copies of their books and talk about their exciting new projects.

Guy Brown— SATURDAY, JUNE 24th

10:30 AM - 11:30 AM at the Science Naturally booth

2:00 PM - 2:50 PM at Autograph Station #5

3:30 PM - 4:30 PM at the Science Naturally booth

Mary Wissinger— SUNDAY, JUNE 25th

11:30-12:00 PM at the Science Naturally booth

1:00 PM - 1:50 PM at Autograph Station #2

Guy Brown, author and TV meteorologist, can be seen forecasting the weather on-air today in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area of Minnesota. More about this author can be found at yourweatherguy.com

Mary Wissinger is a former teacher, she can now be found at her standing desk in St. Louis, MO, writing stories that inspire curiosity about the world and connection with others. More about this author can be found at marywissinger.com
